Trouble Hits 'Wade-In' At Chicago Lake

11 Whites Arrested As Negroes Move To Integrate Beach

CHICAGO (AP) — Antagonism between white bathers and police and a scuffle in which a white teen-ager was carried unconscious from the beach Sunday marked the second weekend of organized integration "wade-ins" at Rainbow Beach.

Eleven white youths were arrested by a police task force of 250 men, commanded by Capt. James Hackett, which patrolled the South Side Lake Michigan Beach.

Nine were charged with disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly. Two others, both juveniles, were released in the custody of their parents.

Those arrested were among more than 500 white youths who jeered officers and a mixed group of some 175 integration demonstrators at the traditionally all-white public beach.

The demonstrators arrived at midday and sat in the sand among the 10,000 persons sunning and swimming at the three-block-long beach between 75th and 78th streets.

The groups of white youths began walking among the demonstrators and crowding around policemen. Then they began a chant: "Go, go, go."

As Hackett and his men moved in to break up the youths, a 19-year-old kicked one officer and struck at another.

Several officers, with nightsticks drawn, grabbed and subdued the youths.

Beauty Queen Starts Duties In 'Universe'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Willow Marlene Schmidt, a green-eyed beauty with a big, disarming smile, bade farewell to many of her erstwhile competitors today and got busy on her new job—being Miss Universe of 1961.

The 24-year-old German, selected by a panel of international experts as "the most beautiful girl in the world," reigned supreme at Sunday night's coronation ball.

It was the final official event of the tenth annual beauty contest.

The tall, silver-blond from Stuttgart met today with officials of the four-day contest to complete plans for personal appearances and promotion during the coming 12 months.

"I'm very happy it's over," Marlene said in reference to the Saturday night judging, "but I still can't believe it. It seems like everything happens too quickly."

Less than one month ago, she took leave from a $54-a-week job as a research engineer for an electronics and radio firm in Stuttgart. She plans to return to that job when her reign ends.

"This is like fairyland to me," the 5-foot-8 Marlene said in reference to her three-room executive suite in Miami Beach hotel. She will remain here two to three weeks.

Rebels Lose 200 Killed In Viet Fighting

Diem's Units Trap Reds In New Move Against Terrorists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government troops driving into a rebel stronghold southwest of Saigon killed an estimated 200 Viet Cong Communists over the weekend in one of the bloodiest battles of the seven-year guerrilla war.

Military authorities said 187 Viet Cong dead were counted after the three-hour pitched battle in the swampy Plaine des Jones — Plain of Reeds—about 60 miles from the capital.

They added, however, that several hundred Reds fled toward the nearby Cambodian border carrying numbers of dead and wounded.

Government losses were given as 12 dead and about 60 wounded.

President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces are giving a new twist to the hit-and-run war, seeking out the rebels in offensive mop-up operations in territories where the Communists are strong.

Government sources claimed a major victory in Sunday's battle that sent a big rebel band fleeing toward the Cambodian border, carrying some of their dead and wounded with them.

GOP Backs Kennedy In Berlin Stand

Sen. Bridges Says Party Will Support Any 'Firm' Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said today Republicans will support any "firm, tough position" President Kennedy takes on the defense of West Berlin.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said members of his party are against "any further weakening of the American position in any part of the world."

He expressed confidence that Kennedy will make it clear to Soviet Premier Khrushchev this week that there will be no Western backdown in Berlin and follow this up with a request to Congress for additional defense funds.

"We Republicans will stand behind the president if he takes a firm position," Bridges said.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., said Sunday he was certain Kennedy had a program to meet the rising danger of the Berlin crisis.

Rayburn predicted in an ABC-TV interview—"Issues and Answers": "When President Kennedy decides to move—decides what money he has to have—Congress will move along with him."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, in a separate interview with a newsman, praised the nonpolitical stance he said Republicans generally are taking in the foreign policy field.

"The Republicans on the whole are rising above partisanship in this crisis," Mansfield said. "They are showing realism about the grave situation we face in Berlin."

Mansfield said he thinks that when Democratic congressional leaders meet with Kennedy Tuesday, the President may have reached a final decision on whether to build up conventional military strength by a partial mobilization of reserves and National Guard forces or by an increase in the size of the Army and Marines.

While the Republicans signified their willingness to go along with Kennedy on Berlin, Bridges said there is no compromise yet in sight on the President's request for authority to make up to $8.8 billion in foreign aid loans over a five-year period.

Kennedy discusses the matter with eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today as part of a series of sessions in which he is attempting to sell Congress on the long-range program.

Weather Is 'A-OK'

Capt. Grissom Prepares For Tuesday Space Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Virgil I. Grissom, a 35-year-old Air Force captain, was named today as the astronaut chosen to make America's second penetration into space.

Selection of Grissom, from Mitchell, Ind., was disclosed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration less than 24 hours before he was due to take a 115-mile high flight aboard the space capsule called "Liberty Bell 7."

The other candidate for the honor of following Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. to the threshold of space was Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 39, of New Concord, Ohio.

Shepard made his pioneer flight—a similar high-altitude trip up and down—on May 5.

The Soviet Union won the race to get a man into space when Maj. Yuri Gagarin rode a spacecraft in orbit around the earth on April 12.

Lt. Col. John Powers, spokesman for the astronaut team, told a news conference the weather prospects for Tuesday looked good.

"Everything at this time looks A-OK," Powers said.

Both men received their pre-flight physical examinations Sunday afternoon after spending most of the day doing nothing save a little surf fishing.

Meteorologists were keeping a sharp eye on a high-pressure area over the Caribbean which was driving high cirrus clouds ahead of it.

So far it does not appear that cloud cover, which would hamper capsule recovery from the sea, will pass close enough to cause postponement of the launch, however.

The flight will be mankind's third trip into space in preparation for true space travel.

The first man to reach the threshold of the heavens was Soviet Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin, who orbited the earth for 108 minutes at a maximum altitude of 187 miles on April 12.

West Gives Answers To Khrushchev

U.S., Allies Hold Firm On Western Rights In Germany

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States today handed to the Russians President Kennedy's reply to Premier Khrushchev's memorandum on the German problem and Berlin.

Immediately afterward, the French delivered a note on the same question, and the British did likewise.

None of the Western Big Three embassies would disclose contents of the communications.

The U.S. embassy declined even to say communications had been delivered but the French and British confirmed they had been.

The notes are not identical. The American one is a straight reply to the memorandum which Khrushchev gave the President in Vienna early in June.

The French and British notes set forth their own views on Germany.

It is understood all three remain firm on maintenance of their war-won rights in West Berlin.

The Khrushchev memorandum, handed to President Kennedy at Vienna June 4, declared the Soviet Union would sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany before the end of the year if there was no agreement on signing up with both Germans.

A Soviet-East German treaty would jeopardize rights of the United States, Britain and France in West Berlin and access to that city via land and air corridors across 110 miles of East German territory.

Western statesmen have made clear they intend to maintain their positions in Berlin, where the Big Three Western powers have taken garrisons totaling 11,000 men.

Art Robbery Of $2 Million Stuns France

SAINT TROPEZ, France (AP) —Thieves stole 57 Impressionist paintings valued at nearly $2 million from a museum here Sunday and carted them off by truck. It was France's biggest art robbery since the "Mona Lisa" was stolen in 1911.

The haul included masterpieces by Maurice Utrillo, Henri Matisse, Raoul Dufy and Pierre Bonnard. It was the sixth art robbery on the Riviera in the past 18 months.

The paintings stolen from the Annonciade Museum of Modern Art were part of a collection French industrialist Georges Grammont donated in 1955 to the town of Saint Tropez, his favorite vacation spot.

The stolen works, insured against fire but not theft, included "Woman at the Window" and "The Gypsy" by Matisse, "The Jetty at Honfleur" by Dufy and "Saint Tropez Harbor" by Bonnard.

The thieves left behind 43 paintings and several sculptures worth an estimated $1 million.

SIX women and three men were nabbed by Pennsylvania State Police Saturday midnight when a raiding party swooped down on what was described as a plush bordello operating in a former hunting and fishing lodge on Kings Creek Rd. in Hanover Township, near Florence.

Charges of prostitution and assignment were filed against the women, identified as Rita Anderson, 23, of Canton, and Tina M. Shell, 22, Tamara O'Day, 26, Carmella Davis, 22, Jacqueline Wilson, 25, and Margaret Jones, all of Pittsburgh.

Arthur P. Goodman, 22, of Steubenville, who claimed he was the janitor, was charged with visiting a disorderly house. Benny J. Pandelli, 49, of Warren, Ohio, was charged with harboring.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was forced to admit on the witness stand today he took part with five of the biggest killers of the Nazi Reich in a meeting that organized the uprooting of half a million Poles, Jews, Slovenes and Gypsies.

Israel Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner, nearing the end of his cross-examination, confronted the former Gestapo lieutenant colonel with the record of a gathering Jan. 30, 1940, when the "Germanizing" of Poland was decreed.

City Company Included Orders To 83rd Division Would Call County Men

Army Reserve units headquartered in East Liverpool, East Palestine and Salem are part of the 83rd Division, one of six divisions which Washington sources have indicated may be mobilized by President John F. Kennedy because of the Soviet threat to West Berlin.

All units of the 7th Medium Tank Battalion, they are Co. A in East Liverpool, Co. C in East Palestine and Hq. & Hq. Co. in Salem.

Washington sources said over the weekend the 83rd, made up principally of Ohio and West Virginia units, is on a list of divisions likely to be called to full-time service.

The others are the 102nd, with Illinois and Missouri components; the 103rd, of Iowa, Minnesota and

DiNiro Dynamite Victim Rackets Chieftain Killed In Blast At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) —Vince DiNiro described by police as this city's top rackets figure, was killed early today when a bomb exploded and ripped apart his car as he turned the ignition key.

DiNiro, almost torn to two by the blast, was still alive when firemen removed him from the wreckage, but he died while being taken to South Side Hospital.

The blast occurred across the street from Cicero's Restaurant on Market Street about two miles from the downtown business section. Several windows in nearby buildings were shattered.

Police said the blast was the equivalent of 10 sticks of dynamite. The 1961 convertible DiNiro attempted to start was registered to a girl friend, but it was not known when he last drove it, police said. The 1960 Chevrolet

Dynamite Reported Stolen At Clarkson

Harvey Souders of Clarkson, former owner of the Souders Engineering Co. in Lisbon, reported Saturday to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan that 25 to 40 sticks of dynamite were stolen from a milk can in his barn sometime in the last 10 days.

Deputies are investigating. The sheriff said he sees little possibility the explosive was used in the Youngstown rackets bombing early today.

Drivers Cited In 2 Weekend Auto Mishaps

Two motorists were cited after a series of four weekend traffic mishaps in East Liverpool, but no one was injured, police reported.

Two of the mishaps were on Dresden Ave., another was downtown and the fourth — a hit-skip collision — was on North Side.

James Russell Lisk, 25, of 132½ W. Jefferson St., Lisbon, was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after a crash in the 1700 block of Dresden Ave. Saturday at 12:50 p. m.

Police said Lisk's car, moving south about 35 miles an hour, hit the rear of a halted 1960 station wagon driven by William P McPherson, 43, of Akron.

Lisk said he did not see McPherson's vehicle in time to avoid a crash, officers said. McPherson said he halted because a car ahead of him was attempting to make a left turn. There was heavy damage to the front of Lisk's auto and the rear of McPherson's station wagon was damaged, police said.

Lisk is due for a hearing at 9 a. m. Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Paul Brilla, 60, of Aliquippa was cited on a reckless driving charge after a collision at Broadway and E. 6th St. Sunday at 10:52 p. m. that damaged his two-door sedan and a 1958 sedan operated by Donald P. Glynn, 29, of 655 Bradshaw Ave., officers said.

The two cars were in parallel lanes of the one-way street and both drivers were attempting turns off E. 6th onto Broadway, officers said. There was damage to the left rear fender of Glynn's car and the right front fender of the Beaver County man's auto, officers said.

Brilla was fined $25 and costs by Acting Municipal Judge Robert Kapp this morning. He entered a guilty plea.

The second Dresden Ave. mishap Saturday at 5:15 p. m. damaged a 1955 two-door sedan driven by John D. Salvatore, 21, of Struthers and a 1957 club sedan operated by Elmer J. Merchant Jr., 26, of Glenmoor, officers said.

Both autos were northbound near W. 9th St., Salvatore moving about 35 miles an hour and Merchant driving between 25 and 30, officers said. Salvatore said Merchant's auto hit his in the rear. Merchant blamed the crash on Salvatore for cutting in too quickly after passing, officers said.

The bumper of Salvatore's car was damaged. There was no damage to Merchant's auto, police said.

Meanwhile, Robert M. Duffy, 44, of 901 McKinnon Ave. told police the left front bumper, fender and grill of his parked 1956 sedan were damaged in a hit-skip crash about 11:35 a. m. Saturday.

Duffy said his auto was struck while parked at his home but the offending motorists did not halt.

Last week's claims included 604 filed under the regular program, a drop of 44, and 197 on the federal extended program, a decline of 16, Dinsmore said.

Of the regular claims received last week, 97 were new and 507 were continued, while 13 new and 184 continued claims were filed under the federal law, Dinsmore said.

There are 29 states with Washington counties.

Accused Slayer Awaits Hearing After Recapture

MOUNT VERNON (AP) — Accused murderer Carroll Wears, captured on a church roof after his escape from the Knox County Jail, faces arraignment here today.

Wears, 23, has been charged with fatally shooting his estranged wife's ex-husband, Sam Cline, 24, Wednesday night.

Sunday, Wears escaped from the jail by knocking out turnkey Roy Weeks, 59, with a piece of concrete. The jailer was hospitalized with a possible fractured skull.

After a three-hour manhunt, Wears was spotted on the roof of the First Baptist Church here by custodian Rosco Davis who called the sheriff's office.

After his capture, Wears was transferred to the Licking County Jail at Newark "because feeling is running high against him here," Sheriff Paul Cochran said.

He was to be returned here today for arraignment.

Last Wednesday, the two men had driven to the home here where Mrs. Wears, ex-wife of Cline, was living. Police said that when Cline walked into the yard, Wears yelled he was going to kill him and started shooting with a .32 caliber pistol.

After shooting Cline, police said, Wears opened fire at the house but no one inside was hurt.

Police were called and Wears surrendered meekly.

Many Much-Publicized Measures Failed To Win Assembly Approval

(This is the last in a series reviewing the work of the Ohio General Assembly which has just wound up its sessions.)

COLUMBUS (AP) — While many measures were passed, as usual there were many others which failed to win approval during the 104th Ohio General Assembly, which completed its work last week except for a return later this month to act on any vetoes necessary and to take such other actions as may be determined in the meantime.

Among the more-publicized non-administration bills which failed to achieve final passage were measures to:

Attract to Ohio more of the space age industries, particularly in the electronics and nucleonics fields, by using excess bond retirement funds to build an advanced research center at Ohio State University.

Redraw the boundaries of Ohio's 23 congressional districts to provide an area for the newly authorized 24th congressman to represent.

Prohibit carryout beer establishments from using soft-drink cartons.

Exempt bulk milk tanks from the sales tax.

Prohibit the hunting of birds or other animals during the deer season.

Repeal the axle-mile tax on big trucks.

Prohibit use of trading stamps by supermarkets and other retail outlets.

Establish a War of 1812 sesquicentennial commission for the observance beginning next year.

Increase number of common pleas court judges in Hamilton, Lake, Lucas, Montgomery and Muskingum counties.

Prohibit sale of liquor on Christmas Day.

Defeated on the House floor were proposals to:

Floodlight the State Office Building in Columbus.

Exempt hotel furnishings from sales tax.

Eliminate tax stamping on beer containers and cigarette packs.

Require highway edging that now is discretionary.

Extend working hour limits for women employees.

Require annual inspection of crop dusting aircraft.

Authorize National Guard group life insurance.

Defeated on the Senate floor were proposals to:

Require real estate appraisal at 50 per cent of true value for taxation.

Allow an entire village to vote on partial annexation.

Exempt pharmacists from jury duty.

Prohibit sale of dairy products below cost.

The legislature passed and sent to the governor legislation that:

Courts and Crimes

Bans breaking into locked compartment of automobile or trailer.

Lets probate court destroy premarital serological tests after two years.

Prohibits soliciting legal business.

Makes minimum penalty for rape of a female under 14 five years instead of three.

Requires each juror to sign a criminal case verdict.

Closes a loophole in the bigamy laws that some interpret to mean a second spouse might be brought in from out-of-state.

Sets a 10-20 year penalty for placing a bomb with intent to cause damage or injury.

Provides for a court appearance for the mother when an illegitimate child is up for adoption.

Includes house trailers in laws against burglary.

Combats what has been called "the racket" of bringing in cheaper merchandise to sell with higher-quality goods at a receivership sale of a firm that has gone bankrupt.

Increases term of Ohio's approximately 90,000 notaries public to five years from three.

Makes discrimination in places of public accommodation unlawful under Ohio's laws governing civil rights.

Jobs and Jobless

Opposes job discrimination because of age by requiring employers to interview applicants between ages 40 and 65.

Provides voluntary workmen's compensation coverage for apprentices.

Allows park boards to buy land on installment basis.

Extends life of nonresident fishing licenses from 10 to 15 days to adjust to two-week vacations taken by many visitors.

Education

Allows a principal to suspend a student.

Lets two or more school districts jointly use services of special education teachers.

Creates a commission to operate a statewide educational TV network.

Reduces required voters approval for levies (at special elections) from 60 to 55 per cent.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss.

No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you have ever had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? Whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? Does your scalp itch and how often? And any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly.

Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas—Adv.

J. R. Hoffa Is On The Move

It would be a waste of time to explain to James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union and its undisputed strong man since Dave Beck's come-upperance at the hands of fellow unionists and Senate investigators in 1957, why he now is in danger of being caught in a trap that has snapped shut innumerable times throughout history.

In the mood the newly triumphant Teamsters leader is in, fresh from his triumph at the union convention as the highest paid president of the world's largest union, he would not be receptive to the warning that he is entering a tragic phase of what has been a gusty, successful career.

Certainly it would make no sense to Mr. Hoffa at this moment to remind him that in a world which balances force with force all the people who are not with him at this climax of his career have no choice but to be against him.

HE HAS TOLD other union leaders it is his aim to become their undisputed leader and the strong man of their followers, as he has become the undisputed leader and the strong man of the Teamsters Union.

He has told politicians he expects to take over their power and show them once and for all what is the most powerful force in America; i.e., political unionism and, specifically, his own union.

He has told employers and managers that when he takes over whichever political party loses the next presidential election he will use this power to dictate national policy regarding business enterprise.

He has told legislators he is tired of being harassed by congressional investigations and thinks his business from now on should be none of their business.

He has told that segment of the legal profession which believes with Attorney General Kennedy that Hoffa leadership of the Teamsters Union has condoned intolerable practices and shady characters that it is being unrealistic.

He has told the public, the goat for all head-on clashes between powerful and irreconcilable forces, that he intends to become ever more powerful in the way he runs his union and the way he hopes eventually to run the country.

He has told the transportation industry that he hopes someday to be its czar, controlling everything that moves on wheels.

MR. HOFFA is a genius in his chosen occupation. By any standard of measurement, he is the "boy who made good." By any method of calculation, he is the labor leader most likely to be making key decisions in the next few years.

But his very strength now is what he needs to fear. He has affronted so many people while acquiring it and is in a mood to frighten so many more people with its use that he will bring into existence a determination to resist him stronger than any opposition he ever has known before.

It is possible that he might do all, or nearly all, the things he has been telling people he intends to do. But it is not likely without the irreconcilable opposition he will encounter as he sets out to override everybody who is not with him.

The net effect of everything he is doing may very well be the passage of more laws to curb his actions—the only means everybody can agree on to balance force and threats of force in a popular government.

James Riddle Hoffa has made it known he is on the move. Does he doubt for a minute that everybody he is threatening to run over is on the move too?

Don't Give Up The 'Ghost'!

A reader has expressed the fear that East Liverpool is doomed to become a "ghost town".

He points to the uprooting that has resulted from construction of the new freeway; to empty storerooms in the downtown area; to the plight of the pottery industry in contrast to the days when things were booming, and to a few other not too favorable signs.

This is not the first expression of its kind. Others have indicated grave concern as to the city's future.

The picture is not overly bright to be sure. But talk of a "ghost town" seems far too strong, if not plain ridiculous.

There's no question but that a readjustment of thinking is in order, however, in light of the situation. For the present at least, there is little possibility of East Liverpool again becoming the booming city it was years ago when the potteries were rushed to keep up with their orders.

As we have mentioned before, our hope now seems to be in expansion as a shopping center; in getting our house in order to the point where small diversified industry will be attracted, and in helping to push the development of the upper valley with its resulting benefits to the entire area.

None of these things will come about if we are content to stand still. They will come only from the development of worthwhile projects such as the freeway, off-street parking, street improvements, and so on.

The future can be much brighter if we continue to prepare for it during the present.

There's no reason in the world why East Liverpool should become a "ghost town" if the good people who make up its population stay in there pitching and "don't give up the ghost".

A Poor Bet

A certain "Steve Brodie" appeal marked Saturday's story in The Review about the unidentified youth who leaped from the Chester bridge into the Ohio River and survived, apparently with no ill effects.

The spirit of adventure — or possibly the spirit of a bottle — must have been responsible for the daring but senseless performance. The $10 bet which eyewitnesses said was involved certainly wouldn't move many to make a leap of 150 feet under any circumstances.

From a news standpoint, the story had definite reader appeal. But from any other standpoint it doesn't make sense.

We don't know what figures the professional odds-makers would offer, but it's a sure bet that more times than not a person who leaps from the Chester bridge won't live to tell the story.

The best advice we can offer any others who might be interested in taking a dive is this: Confine your efforts to proper and safe places and permit the bridges to be used for their original purpose — that of bearing traffic.

This We Must Wait To See

A business researcher in the University of California, Edward A. Feigenbaum, has given a small voice to a large problem in the future of automation.

As everybody knows by this time, if he has been paying attention to the script, automation must not be resisted because it adds to the over-all efficiency of the great complex of production that is the backbone of our civilization.

The thing we must do, therefore, is to keep this economic monster from eating too much, because it has an insatiable appetite. Therefore, anything that cuts its appetite will be taken up with all the zest and gusto that fatties are showing for powders and potions that hold down their weight by holding down their appetites.

So much for the dogma of automation. Automation is good because it curbs the economic appetite of the production complex. It cuts down the overhead. But where does Edward A. Feigenbaum fit into this?

He says that in due time automation will sneak into the front office and replace management. It will have the same selling points there that it had "out back." It will be on the job when you want it. It won't play golf. It won't have emotional problems. It won't get into mischief or pilfer money. It won't demand bonuses for doing its job, not even stock options.

Mr. Feigenbaum thinks automation will replace management because of merits like these. We think Mr. Feigenbaum has forgotten who makes the decisions to automate. If he is about to wait for management to automate itself out of existence, he is about to run out of time.

Zest For Living

A remarkable person was Albert E. Stevens, who died Saturday at the age of 103 at his home in Wellsville.

He had a zest for living. It was brought home forcefully to us a few months ago when he very alertly posed for The Review cameraman on his 103rd birthday.

We have a feeling that life in its twilight stage could be far more enjoyable if many others would adopt the philosophical approach of the late Mr. Stevens.

The Monkey On His Back

The Task Of The Conservatives

By Raymond Moley

Such questions as, "What is a conservative? Or a liberal?" would be countered by a precisionist by, "What century are you talking about? What generation? What country?"

As I think of the changed meaning of those terms, I'm reminded of a story attributed to Abraham Lincoln. In a dream he saw two men fighting. One was clothed in a big overcoat. As the struggle proceeded, the coat left one man and got onto the other.

Since the origins of the terms "conservative" and "liberal" are of mere antiquarian interest, it is necessary only to note that a century ago in Britain the Conservatives were the lineal descendants of the Tories who sought the exaltation of royal authority.

The Liberals rooted their faith in the protection of the individual. The one tended toward centralized authority, the other toward keeping official authority close to the people.

Since the good word "liberal" has now been appropriated by those who favor greater and greater centralized government, those who oppose that trend have appropriated the abandoned word "conservative."

Through the efforts of Sen. Barry Goldwater and others, the word has become respectable. Whatever may be its origins, if it means an alternative to the point of view of the current liberalism, it may as well be accepted.

It is a matter of concern, however, that so many conservatives, especially the young people who have adopted that faith, have provided for themselves no specific meaning for what they believe.

THEY FAIL to show how they would apply their philosophy to the problems before us on the present scene.

They cannot prevail if they are merely opponents of what is going on in Washington, in the college classrooms and in the liberal press.

More opposition may be enough for a political party but it is not a positive philosophy acceptable to millions of people. Nor can conservatives make a personality — even so worthy one as the late Sen. Taft or the immensely valuable Sen. Goldwater — suffice as a rallying point. They must themselves have a central set of principles against which they can measure those who offer themselves as candidates for office.

To attempt a definition in this space would be to over-simplify their problem. That would take a book.

But it may be helpful to remind conservatives that their faith is rooted in a revolutionary idea: The real revolution in modern times is the concept of the individual as the center and root of authority. Not the individual for whom things must be done, but the individual who must, so far as possible, do things for himself.

This is the basic idea launched by Adam Smith in his concept of individual enterprise in economics. It is the political concept carried over from the Glorious revolution of 1688 and John Locke into Jefferson's Declaration of Independence.

THE VARIOUS agencies of government which have grown up around the individual are his servants, subject to his direction and designed to serve his needs.

To render him safe from the tyranny of any of those governmental units, constitutional protections and limitations were devised. And in America the federal system was designed to keep authority as close as possible to the individual, subject to his surveillance and control at all times.

In that plan of decentralization lies his assurance of liberty and growth and self-reliance.

The more distant the agencies of government, his servants, are from him, the greater danger to him from a bureaucracy which must inevitably become a selfish interest in itself and for itself.

FOR EXAMPLE, the welfare community should never be supplanted by the welfare state. Self-regulation in business should never lag, or there will be regulation by a super-government.

To build upon this foundation is the task of the new conservatism. This country is rich enough to meet the needs of those who cannot help themselves. But it cannot be rich enough to afford a super-government in any sense of the word.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Unhappy as I can be with business attitudes that are downright contemptuous of efficiency, my fixed conviction is that government's inability to run even a peanut stand efficiently is built into it and never can be changed.

What we need in the White House these days is the best poker player obtainable, and I would be happier about John F. Kennedy if poker were his favorite game — winning poker, that is.

I have applied for membership in the John Z. Birch Society, named for the inventor of birch beer, whose big pitch is to shift all taxes to those receiving direct benefits from the government and whose motto is "Reductio ad Absurdum."

Watching the dust swirl in that ball park in San Francisco and the players' uniforms almost blown off them, I could understand the errors that piled up in the All-Star game. How can anyone play baseball with his eyes full of dirt?

One of the signs of the times is the steady bombardment of mail sent to newspapers by Solidarity House, headquarters of United Auto Workers. The bombardment began with the Tractors for Freedom Committee and is continuing with detailed explanations of auto negotiations.

If drowsy drivers keep on killing people in rear-end collisions, some smart fellow will invent a device to throw a handful of buckshot rearward when danger is approaching from that direction. I wish it could be me and I'd make a million out of it.

Best way I can think of to get lumpy females and also scrawny ones decently covered up with clothing before next summer is to show them snapshots of themselves taken from assorted angles from the rear for pudgies, from the side for scrawnies.

I regret that the United States has nothing to equal the "Tour de France," a bicycle race that covers 2,600 miles in a period of three weeks and so preoccupies the French they forget everything else while it is in progress. Americans need an annual diversion like this to highlight their lives, now that the World Series has turned into just another ho-hum event.

People in the generation behind mine are surprised that I made a big thing out of going to an outdoor movie. This is old stuff to them. All right, sophisticates, you are talking to a fellow who wrote reviews for the first talking pictures and "covered" the big show when it came to town with canvas flying and moved the whole show from the railroad siding to the show grounds with four-, six- and eight-span teams of horses driven by cursing teamsters. That's something YOU never saw and never will.

I keep thinking what I'd do if I were Khrushchev. One of my tricks would be to modify my military airplanes so they looked like new concepts — the way Detroit modifies last year's models — and fly them over spectators who have been forbidden to take pictures. Then I would doctor up my own pictures and make prints available through my captive news agency, knowing the result would give fits to Nervous Nellies in the U.S.A.

The death of Whittaker Chambers, like his life and his wild fluctuations of ideology and remorse, left me unmoved. I never bought the idea that turncoat Communists were worth idolizing. To me a turncoat meant only that having been traitorous once he might be traitorous again.

Adolf Eichmann apparently is under the illusion he is still the representative of the "master race" battling with adversity, but pictures show what he really is — a scared-stiff, aging man in poor health trying to keep his chin from quivering.

Ex-Red Emotions

By James Marlow

Party Offends Intellectuals' Feelings

WASHINGTON — One of the most amazing revelations from ex-Communists is that they did not think their way into the party. They felt their way in. They got out for the same reason. It was not intellect. It was emotion.

Many were intellectuals who devoted years of their lives to a cause they neither understood nor analyzed. One historic example, Whittaker Chambers, died a week ago.

Yet another intellectual, Bertrand Russell, as early as 1920 in his book, "The Practice and Theory of Bolshevism," was able to understand communism so clearly only three years after the Bolshevik Revolution that he could predict its direction.

Why was he able to see straight and others not?

He could think coldly, even where he himself was concerned for he also advocated socialism; he had historical perspective; he had a good enough mind not to have illusions about mankind no matter what banner it waved, and he was personally adjusted to his times and his environment.

Russell emphasized that under the kind of communism practiced in the Soviet Union all power in the hands of an elite made the "sacrifice of the individual inevitable."

For many years afterward this central inevitability of communism—the insignificance of the individual—was ignored or unperceived by hosts of intellectuals who jumped into the party and squirmed out.

For many of them, eventually, Communist disregard for the individual became the point at which they felt their disillusionment began. Chambers said Stalin's purges of the old Bolsheviks in the middle 1930s was a major turning point for him. Actually, it had begun long before, deep within him.

Chambers became famous when he disclosed he had been a Communist courier in an espionage ring which involved the State Department and one of its important officials, Alger Hiss.

Later he wrote a book, "Witness," about his life. It's a tortured document. He sought to in-dicte his break with the party was the result of celebration. But it was too emotional for that, just as his joining the party was.

He wrote that he winced "at the failure" of people to understand that a "man does not, as a rule, become a Communist because he is attracted to communism but because he is driven by despair by the crises of history through which the world is passing."

Arthur Koestler, another Communist, thought pretty much the same. In "The God That Failed," a collection of testimonials by ex-Communists published in 1949, Koestler said "a faith is not acquired by reasoning."

He said persuasion may play a part in inducing a man to join the party but that the real reasons lie deeper, perhaps beyond an individual's understanding. He pointed to his own impoverished background as a cause.

The same would explain a Communist's departure from the party in many cases, as it did in that of Chambers. He traced the beginnings of his own break to one night when he looked at his daughter's ear and suddenly thought it must have been made by God. For years he had had no belief in God. Unanswered. When did his belief begin, and why and how?

He said, "Man without mysticism is a monster." Yet, until that moment of looking at an ear he had considered himself materialistic only. But the Stalin purges became the tangible moment at which he said he knew he had to break.

Yet Chambers was almost a classic type for candidacy in the party although he didn't understand that either.

In 1932, Morris Ernst, after talking to 300 ex-Communists on why they had joined and left the party, wrote in his book, "Report on the American Communists": that among the 300 there was an extremely "high incidence of suicide, desertions and divorces among the parents, brothers and sisters."

Chambers' early life was miserable because of the split between his parents, the suicide of his brother and the insanity of his grandmother.

Six Months Of Kennedy

By Rowland Evans Jr.

Ask one of the grantees of Congress, "How is Jack Kennedy doing?"

The brow furrows, the mouth straightens, the shoulders square up. A proper senatorial posture having been assumed, the list of grievances emerges: Vascillation in the White House; disarray in the State Department; the bright promise of campaign pledges smudged with inaction here, overaction there; and, of course, Cuba.

Ask that same question to a knowing Democratic politician who lives not in the political pomp of the Potomac but far off in a state capital, and he'll register quick surprise, as though he'd been asked about motherhood. And then he'll talk at once about the bills Congress has passed or is in the midst of passing: depressed areas, emergency unemployment pay, minimum wage, housing, education.

These are the meat and potatoes of the political trade. For six months this Democratic politician has watched a virtuoso performance in Congress unmatched in years. He regards what has already happened there as a durable base on which to build.

In a word, he is happy with the first six months of the Kennedy administration.

ALTHOUGH POLITICAL debate tends to languish with the heat of the long summer days, in Washington the mood is hesitant and brooding, a mood of questioning.

Entire evenings are consumed in sophisticated analysis of the small points of policy and performance.

The debate in the Capital is important, but with its series of intimate, disconnected miniatures, it sometimes tends to obscure the larger picture.

Out in the country, the President is being judged not on whether the White House staff is short-cutting the State Department (which it is) or whether the President is "consulting" with the leaders of Congress (which he is).

Rather, the judgment is based on the imponderables of political appeal. And today, despite Cuba, it has all the well-known marks of high favor.

Mr. Kennedy came into the White House with less executive or administrative experience than any President at least back to Warren Harding.

The man who never ran anything larger than his office in the Senate suddenly found himself six months ago in charge of the largest bureaucracy in the world. And he came to town as President behind a campaign image that made him look like a shining knight on a white charger.

This image, ironically, led to hopes of performance that were unrealistic. Remember his campaign song? "High Hopes" was the title, and it fed the hunger of the American people for a new hero.

For a couple of months the image held. Then along came Cuba.

WHAT CUBA DID was to strip off the gloss and expose the reality. It forced an immediate study of the whole apparatus of intelligence and undercover military operations, of the role and purpose of the White House staff, of the relationship between the President and the military chiefs.

If Mr. Kennedy has profited from the post-mortem of Cuba (if he has not he is not the man he seems to be) it may in the end prove to have been not an un-mixed disaster. Because ahead of Cuba lies Berlin. There will be no luxury of error there.

Down in West Virginia, out in Kansas, up in Oregon, they are ready for a hard, tough decision on Berlin. The mail to Congress indicates it. The speeches of the politicians here demonstrate it.

Odd Facts

Perhaps the largest sculpture ever attempted is the Mount Rushmore National Memorial in South Dakota. It was carved from solid granite by craftsmen using compression air drills and it features the heads of four U. S. presidents — Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt.

The overo Pinto horse has white patches which seem to originate from the underside and work upward. The tobiano strain's more sharply defined white areas extend downward from the back and the head is usually dark.

The earth's largest living thing, the giant sequoia tree, sprouts from a tiny seed resembling a rolled out. It takes 3,000 seeds to make an ounce.

Trucker Gets Jail Term As Drunk Driver

An area trash collector had his chauffeur's license suspended for six months today in Municipal Court and also drew a fine and jail term on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Acting Judge Robert Kapp imposed the license suspension and a fine of $150 and costs and a 10-day jail term after Westley Fulmer, 57, of 1031 Oak St. pleaded guilty to the charge filed by Patrolman William E. McDaniel.

Fulmer was arrested early Saturday afternoon on Avondale St.

The truck operator admitted having a few drinks and using spirits of ammonia for medicinal purposes. He declined to take an intoximeter test or have a physician examine him, police said.

James Woodrow Eflaw, 22, of 856 St. George St. was fined $35 and costs by Acting Judge Kapp on a charge of driving without a valid permit. He pleaded guilty.

The acting jurist told Eflaw he showed "utter disregard" for the law after learning that Eflaw had resided in East Liverpool for 8 months without obtaining an Ohio permit and that his West Virginia permit had lapsed nearly three years ago.

Eflaw was cited early Saturday by Patrolman Orin C. Smith on foot patrol after the East End resident made an improper turn from St. Clair Ave. onto Walnut St.

Six others were among those cited over the weekend by East Liverpool police and the State Highway Patrol.

Sheridan Battistelli, 19, of 201 Jackson St., was charged with operating an unsafe vehicle after his arrest Sunday night at 9:32 at St. Clair and Lincoln Aves. by Lt. Thomas A. Walker.

Lt. Walker said Battistelli was warned approximately 10 days ago to correct the lack of a rear license plate illuminating light and install a new left rear tail light assembly. But when he was halted again last night, neither of the defects had been corrected, the officer said.

Battistelli was fined $10 and costs this morning by Acting Judge Kapp.

Two were cited for crashing the traffic light at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St. Roger L. Parker of 70 8th St., Midland, was cited at 8:05 p. m. Saturday and Byron B. Allison, 628 Florida Ave., Chester, was charged at 9:12 a. m. Saturday.

At hearings this morning, Parker and Allison were fined $5 and costs each.

Edward David Piper, 1503 Pennsylvania Ave., was cited at 7:30 a. m. Saturday for driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

Piper, who had been released to appear, failed to show up this morning.

Two motorists were cited by the State Patrol over the weekend for hearings in the local court.

Albert P. Caruso, 630 Inez Ave., was cited at 11:55 p. m. Saturday, accused of passing on a curve on Route 30.

A $5 fine for Caruso was suspended by Judge Kapp on payment of costs.

John A. Lanzy of Canonsburg, Pa., was arrested at 11:30 p. m. Sunday on Route 30 charged with failure to yield the right-of-way. He posted $32.50 bond to appear Wednesday at 9 a. m.

Reserves

Sunday no orders have been received alerting the company for mobilization.

The unit is preparing for its annual two-week summer training, for which it will depart early Saturday, July 29. It will train with the division at Camp Pickett, Va., which is near Richmond.

The unit is scheduled to return to East Liverpool by midnight, Aug. 12.

It will take its wheeled vehicles—jeeps and trucks—but leave its tracked vehicles behind. Tracked vehicles will be supplied by the Army at the training camp.

Co. A presently has 62 men, virtually all residents of East Liverpool, Wellsville and Chester.

Its other officers are: 1st Lt. Leroy Murphy, executive officer; 1st Lt. James Fox, supply officer, and 1st Lt. William Kelly, plans and training. Each of the officers also is a platoon leader.

DiNiro

DiNiro had driven early in the day was found parked three blocks away. He drove three different cars.

The last known person to have seen DiNiro alive was a 39-year-old Youngstown man. Police said he told them he ate supper with DiNiro about 7 p. m. Sunday at a club near Warren.

DiNiro was the owner of the restaurant, but others ran it for him. Police said he apparently had come from the restaurant, which is closed on Sundays. He had keys for it.

DiNiro's was the second bomb death in almost a decade here, although police records show nearly 80 gangland bombings and dynamitings. The other victim was Christ Sofocleous, who was killed when his car was blown up May 8, 1959.

Police found a huge piece of metal from the car in which DiNiro was killed in a nearby tree. A tire from the car was blown through a window of a wallpaper and paint store. Fragments of metal and glass were strewn over a wide area.

DiNiro, about 40, was generally regarded as the leading racket figure in Youngstown and Mahoning County for the last eight years. In that time he had acquired control of a cigarette vending machine firm, a used car lot, the restaurant and for a time a piece of the Sans Souci gambling club in Las Vegas, Nev. He later sold his interest in the Las Vegas club.

Four years ago state authorities closed DiNiro's gambling operation in a place on U. S. 422 in Coitsville Twp. east of here.

DiNiro served a one-month sentence in Mahoning County Jail in 1959 for a conviction on a contempt of court charge. The charge resulted when he failed to obey a court order padlocking a club he had owned on the East Side after a raid by state agents.

The gambling racket in the Youngstown - Warren area has been blamed for a series of violent episodes the past decade. There have been 75 unsolved bombings since 1951, and on March 12, 1960 Sandy Naples, a Youngstown racket figure, was shot to death on the porch of his girl friend's home.

Mike Farah, 56, long identified with Trumbull County racketeering, died of internal bleeding June 10. He was swinging golf duced the teen-ager who fell unconscious to the sand. He was carried to a police squad car and whisked off to a police station.

The youth later told authorities he was not knocked unconscious by police clubs but passed out in the excitement. He said he suffered from epilepsy.

The kicking incident came as the integrationists were leaving the beach. All departed peacefully and no flareups between white persons and Negroes were reported.

However, the scuffle touched off angry murmurs in the crowd.

Hackett then grabbed a portable loudspeaker and commanded: "The crowd on the beach constitutes an unlawful assembly. You will disperse or be arrested in the name of the people of the state of Illinois."

Most persons left the beach. Hackett later rescinded the order and police allowed a few white families and a number of bathers to use the beach area.

charged with pandering and operating a disorderly house, and Frank F. Pandelli, 44, also of Warren, was accused of visiting a disorderly house.

Frank claimed he was visiting his brother, Benny, state police said. The officers said the Anderson woman attempted to assume responsibility for the operation.

claiming she rented the lodge for $250 monthly.

The raiding party was made up of six officers from Carnegie Barracks and two from Washington Barracks. Sgt. Julius A. Trombeta of Carnegie, who was in charge, said his men had been watching the place for four days from a wooded area. It is known as King's Lake Lodge.

The lodge had reopened about three weeks ago, police said.

All nine suspects are in Washington County Jail, held without bond, pending a hearing later this week, authorities said.

Police said four plainclothesmen were admitted by Benny Pandelli and then were solicited by four girls. They passed marked money to the women.

Five minutes after the four entered, the raid was staged by four others, two in uniforms and two plainclothesmen.

Officers found three guns, one on Benny Pandelli, and two others in different parts of the house, they said. Records and over $200, believed to be the night's receipts up to midnight, were confiscated, officers said.

Two Weirton men, about 21, visited the house after the raid. They were questioned and released.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent the neighborhood dogs from tipping over and emptying our garbage can every night?

A. Try this effective method: Set your garbage can between two two-by-fours driven into the ground and of a height corresponding to the height of the highest part of the can's lid. Hinge a one-by-four-inch board to the top of one of the stakes and fasten the other end of this board to the other stake with a screen door hook. The middle of this crosspiece is slotted to accommodate the handle on the can lid.

Q. How can I prevent the corners of small rugs from persistently curling up?

A. A piece of stiff canvas, sewed underneath the corners of these small rugs, will keep them lying flat and smooth.

Q. How can I prevent colored clothes from acquiring a grayish appearance when laundered?

A. By adding a teaspoonful of vinegar to the next-to-last rinse water.

Q. How can I make putty?

A. Putty can be made by mixing linseed oil with sifted whiting, to the proper consistency.

Kitchen reminder: Large cuts of meat may be kept longer than small ones. Refrigerate all meat loosely covered.

Group To Press For More Aid In Journalism Field

HUNTINGTON (AP) — A multipurpose organization aimed at furthering educational opportunities in journalism has come into being in recent weeks with a minimum of fanfare.

The Journalism Foundation of West Virginia, Inc., has set its sights on two goals: improvement of science writing and reporting in the state and expansion of the summer internship program for journalism students.

One of the major functions will be the serving as a clearing house for funds being channeled into journalism education in the universities and colleges of the state.

Both state and private institutions as well as the state press are represented among the foundation's incorporators.

"It will provide an established organization to take care of any funds available for journalism education in the state," Prof. W. Page Pitt, president of the foundation, said.

"It also will make available its services to administer already established funds," he added.

Pitt is director of the department of journalism at Marshall University.

One of Pitt's first duties is the preparation of a list of major national foundations which are to be contacted for possible contributions.

Minor Bills Await Action In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another week of marking time, with major legislation still on the sidelines, appears in prospect for Congress.

This should be the next-to-the-last week of the session under the 1946 Congressional Reorganization Act which set July 31 as the target date for final adjournment each year.

The provision has no enforcement mechanism, however. And Congress has adjourned by July 31 only twice in the past 15 years—in 1952 and 1956 when members had to leave for the national political conventions.

This year some leaders continue to talk of a Labor Day windup. But many senators and House members privately are saying Sept. 15 or later.

The House today plans to take up a bill to provide Secret Service protection for vice presidents-elect and retiring presidents.

Later in the week it has scheduled debate on President Kennedy's plans to reorganize the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and federal maritime agencies.

The Senate plans to consider the atomic energy authorization bill and possibly a $700-million oceanographic research measure.

Three major pieces of legislation are in the Senate wings but only one is a possibility for floor action late this week.

These are the omnibus farm bill, the National Defense Education Act extender and the $4.8-billion foreign aid authorization measure.

Women Hurt In 2 Mishaps

Two women were hurt in two Columbiana County crashes over the weekend, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported today.

Mrs. Betty Elkins, 35, of Lisbon R. D. 2 was treated at Salem City Hospital after an auto driven by her husband, Donald Elkins, 37, was involved in a collision Sunday at 2:45 p. m. on Route 172, three and a half miles west of Route 30.

Mrs. Elkins suffered multiple lacerations of the forehead and right eye and bruises. She was a passenger in her husband's auto, which slowed after going over the crest of a grade and was hit from the rear by an auto driven by Sam Anastas, 29, of Canton, the patrol said. There was extensive damage to Elkins' auto and moderate damage to the Anastas car, the patrol said.

Mrs. Tony Graham, 22, of Columbiana R. D. 1 was hurt at 3:30 a. m. Sunday when an auto she was driving went off Route 14 about two and a half miles east of Route 7, the patrol said.

She was treated at Salem City Hospital for lacerations of the right arm and lower lip and bruises of the back and chest.

Mrs. Graham's 1949 model auto went off the highway, hit a string of reflector posts and upset, then rolled over onto its wheels again, the patrol said.

Encyclical Seen 'Nightmare' For Latin Translator

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII's monumental social encyclical "Mater et Magistra" was a translator's nightmare for the Vatican's Latin scholars.

Their problem: how to put the technical words of 1961 into ancient Latin, the official language of the Roman Catholic Church.

How, for instance, could they best translate "automation" and "interplanetary space" — unknown when Latin was a living tongue in centuries past?

Automation came out "automaticarum operationum"—automatic m a t a r i a e operations — and atomic energy "vis atomica."

Radio and television translated into "radiophonica et televisifica machina" and the chemistry of synthetics "chemica artificial."

"The initial conquests of interplanetary space" took a more involved and colorful translation: "viae initiae per quas ad sidera ferar" — the beginning ways by which we are carried to the stars.

Steel Demand Due Upswing

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel Magazine says executives in different parts of the country have varying ideas about what to expect in August but they are agreed on one thing — demand for steel is bound to be much stronger in the fall.

Steel output is increasing in the wake of July 4th curtailments, the trade publication said, but demand is leveling off and some steelmakers are "beginning to wonder about prospects for August."

In the midwest, sales executives at Chicago area mills see no August upturn, and one producer anticipates August shipments 2 to 3 per cent below those for July, Steel said. "Automakers aren't ordering as much tonnage for August delivery as anticipated," the magazine reported, adding that the gloom in this area "is tempered only by confidence that anything not delivered to automakers in August will be shipped in September, pushing that month above original forecasts."

On the other hand, leading producers in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and the east look for a pickup in automotive demand and "expect to ship as much steel next month as they did in June," Steel said.

Production of ingot steel last week was estimated at 1,850,000, and a slight increase was predicted for this week.

Color Is Taking Over In Today's Bathroom

NEW YORK — In today's color-conscious homes, an all-white bathroom is all washed up.

Tubs and tiles come in hand-some colors and towels and accessories come in a rainbow of hues, prints and patterns. However, the most influential factor in creating a beautiful bathroom decor is the right color enamel on the walls.

No matter how glamorous its fixtures or how striking its combination of colors, the room's decor is not worth its bath salts if the wall color is not flattering to the complexion.

It is good to remember that walls enameled a hue that's "in the pink" will have you looking and feeling that way, too even early in the morning. In addition to the complexion-kind pinky hues, gold and pure green — stay clear of yellow greens — are also flattering wall colors.

White fixtures can be surrounded by any one of the complimentary wall colors with equally beautiful and beneficial results, but colored fixtures should be set off by walls enameled a color that is as flattering to them as it is to you.

Blue is quite popular in the tub and basin department. Contrary to common practice, enameled the walls a matching blue does not accentuate the good-looking fixtures because they will just fade into the background.

Mauve or lilac, both very fashionable these days, would attractively highlight the fixtures. And because these colors contain a certain amount of pink, the results would be far more enhancing to the skin. Pure green also combines beautifully with light blue tile to produce an exciting and distinguishing decor. While pale pink walls would look rather insipid with light blue fixtures, walls enameled peach, melong, raspberry or soft coral would provide a very noteworthy effect.

Pink is another color that rides high on the waves of modern tubs and sinks. With fixtures of this color, you have a rosy start on a cheerful and flattering bathroom. Why not play it to the hilt?

Enamel the walls a deeper pink, dusty rose, raspberry or lavender pink. If you prefer to enamel the walls a contrasting hue, dove gray, pale periwinkle (it's a pinky blue), and light green would produce a soft effect. For a stronger color combination, turquoise, pure green or deep rosy beige would make a beautiful setting.

Many bathroom fixtures are tan. Pure green is an ideal wall color to excitingly set off sophisticated tan Coral or melon also would be good choices. So, too, would be antique gold, peach and aqua.

Whichever color enamel you decide is best for your bath, make sure it's a quality enamel which will give you the even, easy coverage, good hiding power, non-fading color and washable finish you want and need for a proper job. Specify a quality brand made by a reputable manufacturer. Your walls will continue to bloom in color long after your bath runs over.

Builders Gain In Their War On Termites

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

Give a termite a temperature of 70 to 90 degrees and a humidity of 80 to 90 per cent — and you have a happy termite.

But this doesn't mean that homes are safe in either a cold or a hot, dry climate. The necessary warmth and dampness are provided by centrally-heated houses and well-watered yards.

As a result, termites are found everywhere in the United States, as well as in other parts of the world. They have been found, in fact, in such places as the Buddhist temples of Japan, the Latin quarters of Paris, the Vatican, the Kremlin — and the 20th story of a St. Louis hotel.

While the most common variety of termite looks something like a flying ant, an expert can tell the difference immediately.

A flying ant has an hour-glass figure. A termite has a body that is thick from end to end. Actually, very few persons ever see a termite. But if you find silver-colored wings in and around the house, sweep them into an envelope and take them to an exterminating company or an agricultural college for an analysis.

And don't get panicky. Your house isn't going to tumble down around you — and the chances are the infestation can be wiped out effectively.

Termites enter most houses through wood contacting ground, foundation walls, tubes on foundations, dirt fills, within veneered walls and behind stucco extending below grade.

In slab-type houses, they enter through hairline cracks in the slab, small spaces around plumbing fixtures, heating ducts, pipes, form boards left in contact with the ground, and several other places.

While many persons believe a concrete slab protects against termites, the opposite is sometimes true; that is, the slab offers protection to the termites as they move into the house directly from the soil. In short, no matter what the construction of your house, termites aren't deterred from their wood-eating activities.

While these insects annually cause house damages of $20 million, the figure is expected to be reduced in the years ahead.

Builders have learned that proper ventilation, adequate clearance under joist construction, good drainage and a number of other construction safeguards can do much towards eliminating termite problems.

Old Floors Get New Look Under Skillful Handling

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you are bored with the floors you now have, get another kind. That decorating theory is advanced by one of New York's top interior designers, Jay Dorf, who has put new floors in all four rooms of his apartment.

"Floors represent a larger area than any other surface in the room," he points out, "yet we tend merely to tolerate our floors or cover it with carpet."

"Floors should be lovely enough to enhance our furnishings, and make them look more beautiful, an improvement you will notice when ordinary floors are waxed. Floor beauty can be achieved with patina or with pattern."

What happens when you move? "You take your floors with you as you would linoleum," says Dorf. "People who own rare floors pull them up when they move. Well, why not other floors we like. I intend to do it."

If you can't afford new floors, you can get authentic antique effects by scraping, distressing and proper use of stain, he says.

Dorf's floors are treasures. A living room furnished in elegant French furnishings, from Regence to Louis XVI has an old French mitered herringbone flooring of straight grain and quartered oak. The kitchen floor is vinyl laid in mortar by hand to resemble brick.

The wide oak antique floor boards in a sitting room are from a country home in Milford, Conn. Ditto the 22-foot country chestnut beams at the ceiling.

The room was designed to be an authentic New England country room. A "modern" primitive oil painting of a clipper ship hangs over the fireplace, a Handsome English oak and red leather reclining chair is at the fireplace, a red and white sofa and pieces of Dorf's fabulous collection of "Dr. Wall Worcester" blue and white porcelain enhances the room.

He achieves Jekyll - Hyde effects with windows. Picture windows in his apartment conform to others in the building from the outside. Inside the subterfuge is accomplished with a false wall through which a drapery runs.

But Dorf doesn't stop with false walls, laying new floors, and transforming city apartment rooms into country havens.

He doesn't accept little home features because "they've always been that way," he says. "Everyone should think for himself in respect to his home decor, asking himself how he can improve his lot." Here are some of his decorating tricks:

Window sills? Wood can be easily chipped. Why not marble or formica. (Dorf's sills are French marble—Rouge royale.) Baseboards? Light colored ones are impossible to keep clean. Why not get new effects. (He marbled his with brown and white paint which also complements the window sills.)

Floors badly scarred? If you can't afford new editions, paint them with stencilled patterns for a New England effect or paint the floor a solid color such as gray, adding a red striped border about 12 inches from the wall.

Ike, 3 Brothers Start Michigan Fishing Trip

WATERSMEET, Mich. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower began a few weeks of fishing and a reunion with his three brothers today at a lodge in the northern Upper Peninsula.

The general flew into nearby Land O'Lakes, Wis., Sunday. About 100 persons cheered as he stepped from the private plane. He waved and smiled as the crowd took pictures.

Gen. Eisenhower was accompanied by his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore.

Milton said two other brothers, Edgar of Tacoma, Wash., and Earl of La Grange, Ill., would arrive today.

Contractor Has Key Role In Plumbing

CHICAGO — The plumbing equipment always has ranked as one of the most important installations in the home. High quality work and equipment guarantee the home owner years of convenience and service.

Quality installations are of particular importance today with the increase of water - using appliances, the Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

The modern plumbing system is now designed to accommodate such appliances as automatic dishwashers and clothes washers, air conditioning and food waste disposers.

Of course, the design and quality of the equipment are only as good as the installation. When you are planning a particular installation, the selection of the contractor is of extreme importance.

Qualified contractors are specifically trained to install plumbing in your home that meets the highest standards. Such quality installations provide you with the comfort and convenience that are typical of today's modern equipment.

In addition to his extensive training and experience, the qualified contractor also operates under codes and regulations that assure the home owner a safe water supply.

Every home owner should rely on the advice and service of a reliable plumbing contractor. Not only is a good share of your home investment at stake, but your family's health and convenience are involved, too.

Many To Get Bigger Checks In Social Security's Change

About 1,500,000 older people — the widows, dependent widowers and dependent parents of workers who have died—are due to receive increased payments under the new amendments to the Social Security law, W. J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown District office of the agency, said today.

The benefits payable to widows 62 or over will be raised about 10 percent. Widows eligible for the increased payments do not need to get in touch with their Social Security offices. The increase will be added automatically to the checks they will receive early in September.

Congress called this increase "one of the most-needed changes in the Social Security program." Aged widows not only get lower benefits than do retired workers, but they also have less income from other sources than do retired workers.

The average benefit being paid to an aged widow early this year was $57.80 a month. The yearly income for half the women receiving widow's benefits, not counting their Social Security benefits, was less than $270 a year.

Aged dependent widowers and some aged parents of deceased workers also are due automatic 10 per cent increases with the Social Security checks payable to them in early September.

However, an increase in a parent's benefit check will be made in those cases where only one parent is receiving benefits based on the deceased son's or daughter's work under Social Security. Where more than one dependent parent receives a parent's benefit, there will be no increase.

A number of widows 62 or older now are getting retirement benefits based on their own work under Social Security. Because of the change in the law increasing widow's benefits, it is possible that some of these widows now getting monthly retirement benefits of less than $100 based on their own work will be able to qualify for higher amounts by applying for the widow's benefits payable on their husbands' accounts.

A widow now collecting her own retirement benefit can find out whether this change in the law applies to her by asking at the nearest Social Security office.

Newark Blaze Causes $250,000 Store Loss

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—An early morning fire in downtown Court-house Square here Sunday caused a quarter-million-dollar loss to three stores, fire officials estimated. No one was injured.

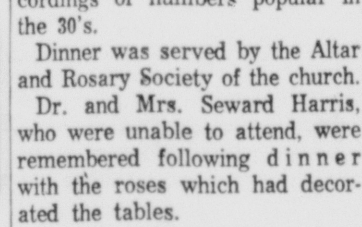

The second floors of Anderson's sporting goods store, Huth's children's clothing center and Mitchell's men's clothing store were gutted.

Flames were confined to the top floor of the two-story brick building. But there was sufficient smoke and water damage to stock on the street level for Fire Chief E. E. Malloy to estimate the loss at $250,000 to $275,000.

The chief said the fire apparently started from a carelessly discarded cigarette or spontaneous combustion in a storage building at the rear of Anderson's.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is having an affair with his thrice-divorced secretary. He doesn't have the faintest notion that I know what is going on. This same secretary was assigned to my husband's department because she was carrying on with one of the other executives. His wife went to the president of the firm and, instead of firing her, they transferred her. Now what I want to know is this: Shall I go the president of the company and tell him the little tramp is now having an affair with my husband? Perhaps with two strikes against her, they will throw her out of the organization. Please give me your advice. I need some clear thinking. — FOR A LOOP.

Dear Loop: Are you trying to (a) get her fired, or (b) get your husband to behave himself and stay home where he belongs? If you accomplish (a) it does not necessarily follow that you will also accomplish (b). A woman who runs to the boss with such a complaint will

Steel Firm Silent On Building Plan

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Expansion plans involving about $250 million are in the works at Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. for 1962-64, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reports.

A J. & L. spokesman declined to confirm or deny the report Sunday but the newspaper said the improvements are being planned as a result of a marked upturn in earnings for the second quarter of this year.

Improvements will include the rebuilding of the Second Ave. strip mill in Pittsburgh and the hot strip mill in Cleveland, the paper wrote.

The nation's fourth largest steel producer currently is in the third year of a three-year expansion program that started in 1959 when J. & L. said it would spend $234 million.

Some of the projects had to be postponed last year because of adverse business conditions.

J. & L. said it will spend $50 million this year, bringing the three-year total to $179,875,000. In 1959, $49,686,000 was spent for improvements while $80,189,000 was spent in 1960.

earn (and richly deserve) her husband's everlasting hostility. She degrades not only him, but herself, by dropping this intimate family problem in the boss' lap.

This is a personal matter, not a business matter. What you need is a third party, skilled in family counseling, to talk with both of you and get this derailed marriage back on the track.

Criticism Applauded

Dear Ann: As a group of nurses we wish to applaud your sharp criticism of the mother who took her 7-year-old daughter to the hospital to have her tonsils removed, telling the poor child that she was being taken there to visit a friend. Of course the child was frightened to death when she learned she was going to have surgery, and she made it very unpleasant for everyone.

Recently we had a similar case — only this mother told her child they were going to a hotel. The little girl was petrified and screamed from the moment she found out where she was until she was given the anesthetic.

All mothers should tell their children the truth — and they should start the very day the arrangements are made with the doctor. If the mother assures the child that she will be right there every minute and that there is nothing to fear, all will be well. And it makes it a lot easier on the hospital staff, too.—A.R.N.

Dear R.N.: I received other letters — from nurses, doctors and mothers — and they agreed unanimously that all children, regardless of age, should be prepared in advance for a visit to the hospital. Not one suggested that it is easier on the child to spring it as a surprise.

One mother wrote: "When we told Billy he was going to have his tonsils out, we also told him he could have all the ice cream he could eat. He was so eager to go to the hospital that he kept asking every day for a week, 'Is this the day?'"

Confidentially

TO OUTSPOKEN CRITIC: You admit to being a "cold" wife and then you ask how a woman can be romantically inclined when her child is having a severe coughing spell in the next room. If your child has severe coughing spells every night, Toots, you'd better hustle him off to a doctor pronto. And while you're there, speak for yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Detroit Hits 6 Homers In Double Win

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer Detroit flexed its muscles Sunday with six home runs to back up complete games by Don Mossi and Phil Regan and regained the American League lead from New York by a half-game and one percentage point.

Rocky Colavito hit two and Norm Cash, Al Kaline, Dick McAuliffe and Mossi one each in an 11-1 and 8-3 sweep over the Kansas City A's.

Mickey Mantle's 32nd home run and ninth-inning double led the New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over Baltimore. Bud Daley's four-hitter kept the Yanks rolling.

Chuck Essegian's two homers helped Cleveland dump Minnesota in the first game 7-5 but Lenny Green, who had eight hits in 11 trips during the afternoon, slammed a triple, double and

EL Pony Stars Meet Warren In Tourney

The East Liverpool Pony League All-Stars drew Warren in its tournament opener when drawings were held Sunday at Youngstown. The East Liverpool-Warren game is set Tuesday at 6 p. m. at Packard Park in Warren. All players picked on the All-Star squad are requested to report for practice tonight at 6 at Dopler Field. The regularly scheduled game between Woodbine and Bright's has been postponed.

three singles in the Twins, 12-5 triumph in the second game. After Los Angeles rapped out 13 hits, including three-run homers by Steve Bilko and Ken Hunt in an 11-2 first game romp over Washington, the Angels lost the second 4-3 in the 10th on a pair of walks by Ryne Duren and a bad throw by catcher Del Rice.

Boston salvaged a split with Chicago when the Red Sox broke through with two runs in the 12th inning for a 5-3 victory in the second game after the White Sox took the first 4-3 on Minnie Minoso's two-run single in the ninth.

Mossi's homer in the first game at Detroit was his first of the year as he helped himself to victory No. 10 with a five-hitter. All Detroit runs in the second came on homers. Colavito's 23rd and 24th drove in five. Cash hit his 25th with a man on, his first in 17 games.

Daley might have had a shut-out in Baltimore in a rain-interrupted game but for some shoddy play that let two fly balls fall in for hits in the sixth inning when the Orioles scored their run. Mantle's homer came off Steve Barber, who also was the victim of Mantle's game-winning double in the ninth, following a double by Tony Kubek.

Reds Fold Against Cubs, 4-2

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer Cincinnati's season-long trouble with the Chicago Cubs cost the Reds a full game of their National League lead Sunday when they bowed to the Cubs 4-2 while the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers were outslugging Pittsburgh 12-11 in 10 innings.

The Reds still lead the Dodgers by five games despite their problems with the Cubs, who have won 10 out of 16 from Manager Freddie Hutchinson's crew.

The Reds main worry is George Altman. The Cub outfielder became the league's player of the month for June largely through a nine-hit series against Cincinnati. He is well on his way to repeating in July with Cincy pitching providing the impetus.

Altman, hitting .382 against Cincinnati with six of his 16 homers against the league leaders, beat them Sunday 4-2 with a tie-breaking homer in the sixth inning. Bob Anderson's no-hit pitching for 3 2-3 innings saved a fifth victory for Dick Ellsworth at the expense of rookie Ken Hunt.

Los Angeles gained a full game on the Reds but they did it the hard way, blowing an early lead and finally beating Pittsburgh 12-11 on Johnny Roseboro's 10th-inning triple. Roseboro's ninth-inning homer had helped the Dodgers tie it up despite five home runs by the Pirates. Bill Mazeroski hit two and Dick Stuart, Robert Clemente and Don Hoak each hit one.

San Francisco, making a belated move since the All-Star break, thumped the Phillies 7-3 with two homers by Willie Mays and one by Matty Alou. Sam Jones, making his first start since June 13, was the winner over Jim Millers with relief help from Stu Owen. The victory moved the Giants into third place.

Joe Adcock hit two homers and Lee Maye added another in Milwaukee's 9-1 romp over St. Louis whose only score was a pinch homer by Carl Warwick. Bob Hendley, rookie lefty, won with aid from Don Nottebart.

Anderson took over from Ellisworth in the Reds-Cubs game with two on base in the sixth. He struck out Jerry Lynch, the Reds' top pinch-hitter, and made Don Blasingame fly out.

'Bad Treatment By Bosses'

Veteran Umpire May Quit Because Of Poor Backing

By CHARLES MAHER Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Dascoli, regarded by many as the finest umpire in the National League, may quit after this season because of dissatisfaction with the way umpires are treated by their bosses.

Dascoli neither denies nor confirms it, but The Associated Press has learned he recently told Pittsburgh baseball announcer Bob Prince this will definitely be his last year.

Pittsburgh baseball writer Les Biederman says several players have told him the same story. The story is that Dascoli is discouraged because he feels umpires have not been getting proper backing from the league office in their run-ins with players and managers.

Dascoli, approached by a newsman after Sunday's Pittsburgh-Los Angeles game, said:

"I'd like to give you the story, but right now I'm not in a position to make a statement. If we happen to be here the day the season ends, I'll be happy to talk to you."

Significantly, Dascoli did not deny the story, as he presumably would if his remarks had been misunderstood. Nor did he say he had changed his mind since the Pittsburgh interview.

Dascoli, 45, joined the National League staff in the middle of the 1948 season, only about two years after becoming a professional umpire. He has worked in three World Series.

Golden Star

Tops Litten's

Golden Star scored all of its runs in the third inning then went on to a 4-2 victory over Litten's in the Pony League Saturday.

Litten's outhit Golden Star 9-6 including a home run by Cash-dollar which came in a losing cause.

Walker was the winning hurler while Johnson was charged with the loss.

Ensinger and Huddleston led the losers with two hits apiece while Smith and Lee each collected doubles for Golden Star.

A Litten rally was stopped in the seventh inning when Golden Star pulled off a double play.

Steve Bilko, first baseman with the Los Angeles Angels, broke in with Allentown, Pa., as an outfielder in 1945.

Arnie Wins 1st British Open Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, back home again after fighting off rain, wind and a cantankerous course to capture the British Open golf championship, says he's determined to win the National PGA title in Chicago later this month.

"I want to win it more than ever now," Palmer said during a brief stopover Sunday en route to his home in Latrobe, Pa. "It's the only major one I haven't won, you know."

The 31-year-old ace of American golfers won his first British Open in his second try—firing rounds of 69 and 72 on the 36-hole windup at Birkdale, England, Saturday for a winning 72-hole total of 284. He won by a stroke from Dai Rees of Wales after having trailed Australia's Kel Nagle by a stroke in the 1960 championship—his first attempt.

Since Palmer already has won the U.S. Open — in 1959 — and the Masters — in 1958 and 1960, the PGA championship is the one major title he needs to complete the cycle.

The PGA is the next tournament for Arnie and he said he'll spend a full week getting ready for its start, July 27, at Chicago's Olympia Fields Country Club.

Arriving at Idlewild Airport, Palmer said the British Open title "was one of the hardest championships I ever won—boy, it was rough."

U.S. Defeats Russians In Track; 2 Marks Fall

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians outsmarted themselves when they agreed to keep separate men's and women's scores in the week-end track meet against the United States. Today they were trying to explain that, after all, it's the grand total of victories that counts.

The American men whipped the Soviet athletes, 13-9 in events and 124-111 in score based on a 5-3-2-1 scale in the third of their series of clashes that ended Sunday in a miserable rain. The Soviet women won 68-39.

Now the Americans head for Stuttgart and a meet with East Germany Tuesday and Wednesday.

Valery Brumel, the wonderful Soviet teen-ager, smashed the world high jump record by clearing 7 feet, 4 inches under wretched conditions and Ralph Boston of Tennessee State topped his own pending world broad jump record of 27 feet, 1/2 inch by soaring 27 feet, 1 3/4 inches.

America's John Thomas cleared 7 feet, 2 inches in the high jump but missed three times at 7 feet, 4 inches although he was almost over on his last shot.

The Soviet women completely dominated their meet, winning eight of 10 events.

"We only made them separate meets because of our American friends," complained Leonid Khomkov, chief of the Soviet version of the A-A-U, dropping a few sour grapes on the way. "Don't they total up all the gold medals in the Olympics for both men and women?"

"The United States is the only nation in the world that separates its men's and its women's teams. We will never discriminate against our women in the Soviet Union. As far as we are concerned we won 17 events to America's 15."

The other United States victories Sunday were by Jay Silvester of the U.S. Army in the discus—191-9 1/2, Cliff Cushman of Grand Forks, N.D. in the 400-meter hurdles—50.5, Jim Beatty in the 1,500 meters—3:43.8, which equals a 4:00.8 mile, and the 1,600-meter relay, with Adolph Plummer, Chuck Frazier, Earl Young, and U.S. Williams, 3:08.8.

The Soviet Union won five events—the javelin with Viktor Tsybulenko—272-8 1/2, 3,000-meter steeplechase with Nikolai Sokolov—8:35.4, the 5,000 meters with Pyotr Bolotinikov—13:58.4, and the decathlon with Yuri Kutenko—7,615 points, besides the high jump.

Tatyana Schelkanova set a women's world broad jump record of 21-3. Willie White of Chicago tied the listed record of 20-11 3/4.

Doug Sanders started as an amateur golfer at the American Legion course in Cedar town, Ga.

Squash Player Captures Ohio Amateur Golf Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Walter Stahl Jr. is the No. 5 player on the Cleveland Racket Club's squash team, but he's No. 1 among Ohio's amateur golfers.

The modest M.I.T. graduate, head of his own manufacturers' representative firm at 26, climbed on the throne Sunday by defeating public linkster Mike Potolski, 22, of Columbus 2 and 1 in the 36-hole finale of the 55th state amateur tournament.

It was Podolski's fourth frustration in two years. The last two seasons he has been runner-up in the state public links championship. Two weeks ago he finished second in the National Intercollegiate, and this time he fell short in his most determined bid for the coveted amateur crown.

The first five holes held the key to Stahl's conquest. He won four of them—two with birdies—and Podolski never caught up.

After the early splurge, Stahl won only four of the remaining 30 holes, just enough to give him the Governor's Cup.

No one was more surprised than Stahl that he wound up as best of the 219 original entrants. He had qualified with a 156, under the wire by two strokes, and had checked out of his motel Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings with the expectation of heading home.

"Gee, yes, I'm surprised I won," he said after the match. "If there was ever a longshot, darkhorse champion, I'm it."

But champion he is and he had the shots and stamina to prove it over the six-day, pressure-packed 180-hole marathon over Toledo Inverness' treacherous terrain.

Four different times in the finals Podolski cut Stahl's margin to a single hole. But just when Stahl's hopes appeared dim, the Cleveland uncorked a shot to move further ahead.

Podolski's downfall was his putter, usually his most potent weapon. He didn't make a putt of more than eight feet in the entire round, at least 10 long ones hanging on the lip of the cup.

With the two youngsters going all the way, new fuel was added to a campaign by some of the tournament's old timers to change the amateur from a week-long match play event to a three-day, 72-hole medal play jaunt.

Some of the oldsters say they can't stand the long grind but their move to shorten the tournament was voted down. Several of them, including former champion Tom Jones Jr. of Akron, said they would continue to fight for the shorter medal play race.

Wellsville Nine Tops Gallagher's In City Softball

The Wellsville Merchants pushed their record to .500 by handing Gallagher's Market an 8-2 loss.

John Carter won his third straight game with a neat fourth performance.

Jerry Cannon pounded out a home and triple while Jack Call had two hits for the winners.

Wellsville met 5-5 on the season. Glen McGaffic was checked with the loss.

Suitable Team Wins

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—It doesn't hurt to have talent, but tennis coach Ray Mears of Wittenberg University figures a well-equipped, well-dressed net squad has a head start. Mears' tennis team was unbeaten this season, rolling to an 8-0 dual meet record and losing only five of 72 individual matches. A former player, James C. Olson, now a director of an athletic goods firm, arranged for individualized equipment.

Ty Cobb Improves

ATLANTA (AP)—Former baseball star Ty Cobb, 74, appeared slightly improved at Emory University Hospital, where he is being treated for diabetes. A spokesman described his condition as fair and said he was resting fairly comfortably.

The Detroit Tigers were the first 37 days of the 1961 season without suffering a shutout. Then Gene Conley of the Boston Red Sox blanked them 1-0.

Time Will Bring Final Verdict On 104th Assembly

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — When the 103rd Ohio General Assembly wound up its work almost exactly two years ago, people whose legislative memories go back pretty far said there never had been one like it before and there never would be again.

Now that the 104th Assembly has wound up the major part of its work, some observers are casting the same judgment on it.

If this points up anything of long-range value, it is that every legislature is peculiar to itself, with its own set of problems and circumstances.

Between the distinctive characteristics of the 1959 and 1961 sessions, however, there is a close connection. The first laid the foundation for the second.

Democrats Take Over

The 103rd was the first Assembly in 10 years to be controlled by the Democrats, and, through a record majority at the polls, the Democrats also installed one of their own — Michael V. DiSalle — in the governor's office for the first of the new four-year terms.

Though occasionally plagued by internal strife, the team worked together on an aggressive and sometimes imaginative program, the cornerstone of which was a tax increase of something over $300 million.

The governor and his legislative leaders explained — they refused to use the word "defend" — this increase as dictated by the political courage to face up to the state's needs and meet them on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The Republicans took this explanation — they preferred the word "defense" — with more than a mere grain of salt, claiming the new tax bite was at least $100 million too big and charging the governor and his friends had armed themselves for a two-year frolic with the taxpayers' money.

Battleground Set

Both arguments used fighting words, of course, and that was the battleground on which the 1960 campaign for legislative control was fought. The Republicans surprised even themselves by taking over the reins in both houses.

Few elections are decided on single clear-cut issues, especially in presidential years, but the GOP was satisfied that it had been given a mandate by Ohioans to stop the alleged big spending, block any new tax increases and maybe even cut back the tax take here and there.

But Mike DiSalle, never a man to let current events drift past him, jumped into the swim with a budget message that said the state could live within its present means, but suggesting more progress would be made with a spending program $150 million beyond present means.

DiSalle Prepared

He was fully prepared to be taken seriously if the Republicans accepted his invitation to discuss a tax increase to cover that imbalance. But at the very least, his proposal was intended to dramatize what he considered to be the irresponsibility of the Republican campaign charges.

Naturally, the GOP legislative leaders took it as confirmation of what they had been saying all along. They not only would not even think of raising taxes, they said, but they would prove that the balanced executive budget could be trimmed down to provide some extra money for things the governor had left out.

From that point the session progressed — or proceeded, depending upon which side of the political aisle one is speaking from.

Battle Still Rages

Officially, it is not over yet and the budget battle is not settled. The GOP's appropriations for the second year of the biennium stand vetoed by DiSalle. The majority leaders are withholding their decision on what to do about it until they return July 31 for what usually is final adjournment but may be a lengthy recess.

In one sense, the governor's position has been vindicated. The Republicans combed his balanced budget proposal carefully and came up with a cut of $37 million, considerably short of the $100 million they had charged the administration was swimming around in.

And their cutting was based on maintaining state programs at present levels, which can be interpreted as tacit approval of the upgrading accomplished during the last two years by DiSalle and the 103rd General Assembly.

GOP Vindicated, Too

On the other hand, the Republicans have had their share of vindication, too. It is more subtle, such as the belief that how much you spent isn't the only important consideration, but how and on what you spend it as well.

They made their biggest cuts in welfare and mental hygiene programs and reapplied the lion's share to education and capital improvements. They have held fast to their contention that the welfare and mental hygiene programs do not have to suffer if the money allotted to them is managed wisely.

They succeeded in making some tax cuts, though none so dramatic as the increases of 1959.

But the ultimate vindication — the judgment of which side is more right than the other — rests with time or the voters or both.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Children Need Proper Sex Education

In a family of two or more young children, one an infant, it is wholesome for the older ones to see the baby changed, dressed or undressed and bathed normally, as a matter of course. It's well, too, for the only young child to see such occur in a playmate's home. Despite such upbringing, Dr. Garry Meyers ing, some children may, at five, six or later, engage in undesirable sex habits. In these directions they may be prompted or exploited by some other children, typically older than themselves. As I have pointed out in this column, no matter how sound his information on the facts of life, a child is not well armored against undesirable sex habits if he does not have adequate supervision and if he lacks healthy inhibitions; if he has not learned well the meaning of No and wholesome respect for the rights of others.

AMONG THESE rights is the right to have their bodies as well as their material possessions respected.

As little children grow in the family, they and their brothers or sisters or playmates often, naturally, wrestle and roughhouse with one another in the presence of their parents and other older members of the family.

In hundreds of such situations the wise parent gets clearly over to each child that he shouldn't touch, explore or injure certain bodily parts of another child or older person.

From these hundreds of situations the growing child arrives at certain general rules about the preciousness of another person's body which should prove wholesome and useful to him always.

Arriving at these general notions of right behavior in the presence of his parents in a family atmosphere of understanding, love and security, he should be the better prepared to observe these same rules while out of sight of responsible persons.

ESSENTIAL TO his gaining proper self-control away from such guiding persons is his having acquired healthy inhibitions in their presence.

His parents can, moreover, guide him somewhat by exercising some of the following precautions:

Knowing where he is when away from them for appreciable periods; protecting him from long periods of time in secret places with one or more other children; trying, as far as possible, to have him play within the sight and hearing of responsible persons; encouraging him in wholesome fun under such conditions.

During the long summer days, especially in areas where young children can wander off to places where they are not easily seen or heard by older persons, there are obviously more opportunities and temptations for these children to engage in undesirable social behavior.

The problem increases when there are one or more slightly older children wandering off long and often with younger ones.

MANY A PARENT, living in such areas usually considered desirable, is unduly self-satisfied that all is well. There is no substitute for parental vigilance and wholesome supervision.

West Virginia Orders

Halt To Free Licenses

CHARLESTON (AP) — Motor Vehicles Commissioner Jack Nuckols has ordered a halt to the issuance of free auto license plates to sheriffs and their deputies pending a study of a controversial law setting up the West Virginia Sheriffs Bureau.

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson is looking into certain provisions of the act, particularly one under which titles of the cars are transferred to the bureau and the free tags are issued for the vehicles.

Under the law, the titles are returned to the officers when they finish their terms. The question is whether the owners must pay the state's 3 per cent auto privilege tax when the title is handed back.

Nixon Backed In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has been called "the most qualified man in our state" to be governor by heads of the Republican State Central Committee.

The 75-member executive committee urged Nixon to run for the post in a resolution approved Saturday.

In an address, Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., expressed optimism about the GOP's chances in the 1962 elections and said California Republicans in Congress, meeting Friday in Washington, agreed that Nixon must decide for himself whether to run for governor.

Meanwhile, Kentucky's GOP Sen. Thurston B. Morton said in Louisville Sunday that he has told Nixon the Republicans will have to win the California governorship if the former vice president is to remain a potential presidential candidate for 1964 or 1968.
